

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Walrusmagazine.com Nominated for Prestigious Awards

TORONTO, September 23, 2010 – The Walrus Foundation is delighted to announce today that walrusmagazine.com has been named a finalist in two categories at the Canadian Online Publishing Awards. The awards, which are produced by the publishers of Masthead, have recognized walrusmagazine.com in the Blog category for overall excellence, and in the Article(s) category for “Drinking With Men Who Are Not Russell Smith” by novelist and Walrus staffer Stacey May Fowles.

“Receiving these nominations is a great honour,” said John Macfarlane, editor and co-publisher of The Walrus. “The online realm is key to our editorial mandate, and we take great pride in both walrusmagazine.com, and in contributors like Stacey May Fowles. Walrusmagazine.com shares a mission with The Walrus: to publish the best writers, ideas, debate and conversation for its readers, whether they are online or off.”

The Canadian Online Publishing Awards are in their second year, and these are the first nominations for The Walrus Foundation and walrusmagazine.com. The winners will be announced at a special reception on Wednesday, October 20 at the Gladstone Hotel in Toronto.

For more information about the Canadian Online Publishing Awards, please visit:
<http://www.canadianonlinepublishingawards.com>

For more information, please contact:

Matthew McKinnon
The Walrus
416 971 5004 x275
matthew.mckinnon@walrusmagazine.com
www.walrusmagazine.com

Walrusmagazine.com is the online companion to The Walrus. The website exists to broaden the scope, reach, and reputation of the magazine and The Walrus Foundation. It achieves this by publishing articles from The Walrus alongside original blog posts, audio and video clips, and other web-only journalism.

The website hosts virtually complete archives of every issue of The Walrus; its publishing schedule echoes the magazine's newsstand rotation. In addition, walrusmagazine.com is home to: The Walrus Blog; The Walrus Podcast; online exclusives including supplementary interviews and image galleries, desktop wallpapers, and multimedia content; notices for upcoming Walrus Foundation events; and more.

###